

The newly re-launched Edge Magazine is a Canadian-based print and digital business magazine distributed in North America and internationally. Our stories and profiles highlight entrepreneurial stars from across North America whose lives and success are a testament of perseverance in the face of many challenges and obstacles. We offer diverse, inclusive, business and life solutions in addition to our E-books and podcasts for our readership of professionals, business owners and corporations.

INSPIRATION

University Students “Reclaim” Segregation

African-American students are now fighting to regain what their forefathers sought to abolish: segmentation. University of Wisconsin students are demanding free tuition and special housing for blacks only. Safe spaces reserved for students of colour...

BUSINESS

Ex-Athletes Turned Business Tycoons

“I’ve never had this before. I’ve never had a team fall off a cliff like this before in my life. I’ve had dips. I’ve had slumps. I’ve had rough patches. But this is akin to an 18-wheeler going right off a cliff.” Although Brian Burke is referencing to his limited time spent...

TECHNOLOGY

A Guidepost To Learning For Entrepreneurs

There’s no right way to go about learning. We all have different styles and methods and that’s something to celebrate! Internet courses are awesome: you have guidance as you learn the material, you can interact with a group, and you have deadlines to keep you accountable...
